

August 29, 2009

Adding New Design Elements to the Catalog

- The Design Element list constitutes a catalog of design elements we recognize and assigns a category / subcategory to each design element that is fixed for all time.
- New design elements will be required from time to time to provide a well-defined label that communicates within this rock art community.
- Potential new design elements will be submitted to the Council for review, comment, and approval
- The submittal will include the following information
 - Sketch
 - Photos
 - Areas where it is found
 - Frequency
 - Description
 - Cultural affiliation

The use regional design element lists is a good one. This is easily facilitated when a single complete catalog of design elements is used as a basis to maintain the integrity of the categories / subcategories.

The current catalog of design elements is the current Design Element List.